Laminate table tops have moved on considerably over the past few years. Long gone are the tops that so many people have in their memories from school days with laminate peeling and edges falling off. New manufacturing processes and stronger adhesives ensure that these tops are a generation apart from the old models. In addition, there are now a massive number of finishes including plain colours, wood designs, stone colours and textured finishes.

The tops come with a choice of edge finishes which include polished, hardwood, aluminium & PVC. With polished edging, there is also a choice of edge profiles.
